

Executive summary

Revenue grew 18% quarter over quarter, driven by the new subscription tier and a healthy renewal rate. Operating margin held steady despite increased hiring.

Key highlights:

1. Subscription revenue crossed the seven-figure mark.
2. Churn dropped to 4.1%, the lowest on record.
3. Two enterprise contracts signed in the final week.

Financial overview

The table below is summarised; see the appendix for the full ledger.

- Gross revenue: 1,240,000 EUR
- Cost of sales: 430,000 EUR
- Operating expenses: 510,000 EUR
- Net profit: 300,000 EUR

Cash reserves now cover roughly eleven months of runway at the current burn rate, giving the team room to invest in the product roadmap.

Spending was concentrated in three areas: engineering headcount, infrastructure, and a modest increase in marketing to support the launch.

Product roadmap

The next two quarters focus on reliability and developer experience.

- Streaming output for large documents
- Tagged PDF for accessibility
- A higher-level layout system

A short illustrative snippet of the public API:

```
$doc = new Document();
$doc->addPage()->markdown($report);
$doc->save('report.pdf');
```

Each initiative ships behind a feature flag so we can measure impact before a broad rollout, and roll back instantly if a regression appears.

Risks and outlook

The main risks remain concentration in a handful of large accounts and the cost of cloud infrastructure as usage scales.

Mitigations under way:

1. Broaden the mid-market funnel to dilute account concentration.
2. Negotiate committed-use discounts with the infrastructure provider.
3. Continue the subsetting and compression work to keep output small.

Overall the outlook is positive: the pipeline is strong and the product is differentiated on correctness and standards conformance.
